TOTAL TRAVEL TIME					132

This travel route will make it possible to do all the quests. Only the quests that needs travelling from island to island appear in the tables above. Since Demenion is a tough enemy I moved that fight to the second visit to Verona. That required an extra stop at Dersu (third time) in the trip between Verona and Elon. But since this only cost 1 extra hour instead of going directly I think it is worth it. The total travel time by boat is exactly 11 days. The travel route is visiting the island in order of increasing difficulty. So, hopefully, it should be realistic to follow it. This route also allows you to wait with the bosses until the end of the game since all the boss locations are visited in the end to complete quests. Except for Reha that is added at the very end since K'Tahu is the toughest opponent of them all (except Baal).

Note: If you follow this route strictly, you will probably miss some items that are for sale in Debir in the end of the game. Debir gets updated two times. The first is after the Amulet of Illumination quest, the second is after you have gathered more stones.
